

Managing your creds doesn't have to be harder than it needs to be.

Organising your credentials, licenses, and work documents can be a pain when they're in different file formats.

There's no easy way to store and manage all of them and share them easily when you need to.

Not having ready access to your creds anytime, anywhere can mean missing out on the jobs you want.

Building up your career profile for that next role means keeping your creds current. But who has time to keep track of your credentials expiry dates?

CredShare is the easiest way to manage credentials.

Securely store all your credentials in one place – and share with ease

- Free to join, free to use.
- Get your creds on the cloud and always be ready for that new role, anytime, anywhere.
- Update & manage your work documents on the go.
- You're in control. Share your creds securely in seconds with encrypted servers for better security.
- Get auto-reminders when your creds are expiring, so you never miss out on that next promotion again.
- Eager to step up at work? CredShare gets you ready for your next role by identifying training gaps in your profile.
- Complete your profile with CredShare so your manager knows why you're the right fit for that new role!
- Be in the best place to step up within your organisation.
- Connect with the right people.
- Share your credentials with anyone you choose.
- Your info, your choice.

What are Credentials or 'Creds'?

'Credentials' or 'Creds' is a catch-all term for all the documents you and your workers need to do a job.

Tickets, licenses, accreditations, identification, inductions, qualifications, documentation – you name it – if it's needed for the job, you can manage it all on CredShare.

CredShare is the digital home for all your tickets, licenses, documents and credentials. Securely store, manage, and share your creds with ease.

Get started today! Manage and share your creds in 4 easy steps.

STEP ONE

Login and upload the photos and details of your credentials.

STEP TWO

Select and share your credentials with anyone, anytime, via a secure link.

STEP THREE

Update your credentials anywhere, anytime.

STEP FOUR

Success! Done! All your credentials in one place, ready when you need them.

CredShare App available now

The new CredShare app is the best way for workers to store, manage, and share credentials online. Now you can securely store all your tickets and licences in one place for free — and share with ease through the app, now available on iOS and Android.

CredShare takes security seriously.

All your data is protected by AWS multi-layer encryption. Stay in full control of who sees your creds, when, and for how long.